

OUR COMPANIES ARE COMMITTED TO
serving CE-type plants.

WESTINGHOUSE ELECTRIC COMPANY LLC

Westinghouse Electric Company and joint-venture partner KEPCO NF (KNF) have formed KWN and are now fabricating Control Element Assemblies (CEAs) in Daejeon, Korea for Combustion Engineering (CE)-type plant customers.

- This significant joint undertaking among KEPCO Nuclear Fuel and Westinghouse began in 2008.
- Production began for System 80 customers in October 2011 following the implementation of a rigorous training/quality assurance program. Non-System 80 designs also will be fabricated in the same facility.
- The first order of 56 CEAs will be delivered in 2012.
- Westinghouse is the original equipment manufacturer (OEM) of the CEAs.
