

Policy Statement

Westinghouse will design, source, produce, market and deliver our products and services in a safe, environmentally sound and socially responsible manner. We will ensure our operations are conducted in a way to meet the needs of Westinghouse and its interested parties today, while protecting and sustaining the human and natural resources that will be needed in the future. Westinghouse's expectation is that every employee knows their role and participates in the implementation of our Environment, Health, Safety (EHS) and Sustainability programs and processes and that their participation is essential to our success.

Westinghouse is committed to:

- Providing a safe and healthy work environment by preventing work-related accidents and occupational illnesses, targeting zero Serious Safety Incidents
- Proactively identifying and evaluating the risk of EHS hazards and aspects and implementing effective controls to minimize consequences
- Reducing our environmental impact by minimizing raw material and energy usage, and preventing pollution by reducing waste, recycling and reusing materials and resources
- Ensuring conformance with all applicable EHS compliance obligations through inspections, assessments and audits
- Fostering a culture of EHS awareness, involvement and accountability with our internal and external interested parties
- Recognizing the special characteristics and unique hazards of nuclear technology and activities involving nuclear materials and demonstrating the traits of a healthy nuclear safety culture
- Setting meaningful, realistic EHS objectives in order to continually improve our EHS performance
- Utilizing qualified and competent resources to implement and maintain our EHS programs

Responsibility

It is the responsibility of every employee of Westinghouse and its subsidiaries/joint ventures to read and comply with the provisions of this Policy.
